

Lead-Related Construction Certification Renewal Forms and Instructions

California Department of Public Health, Childhood Lead Poisoning Prevention Branch
Lead Related Construction Unit

Renewing Certificates:

Your California Department of Public Health (CDPH) certificate must be renewed every year. To renew your certificate, you need to have satisfied the Continuing Education requirement and pay the yearly renewal fee. CDPH will assign your certification expiration date for new applications. Renewals are extended one more year from that date, if your application is received and processed prior to the expiration date. You will not lose time on your certification by applying early. Applications received or processed after the expiration date will be assigned a new expiration date.

Continuing Education Requirement:

You must complete at least 7 hours of CDPH-approved lead-related construction Continuing Education every two years. Additionally, any one Continuing Education class can only be used for a maximum of two renewals. You should complete your continuing education before applying to CDPH for renewal.

Renewal Deadlines:

You must apply to CDPH for renewal 120 calendar days before your certificate expires. If you do not apply in time, your certificate may expire before CDPH can renew it. There are no extensions and CDPH can not expedite processing any renewals. Please take this into consideration when scheduling your Continuing Education.

Photograph:

You need to send a photograph of yourself with your renewal application, either a print or a digital photo. CDPH has implemented an online system to replace the datacard system. You will receive a new certification with each renewal, with the photograph electronically printed directly on the certification.

Applying for Renewal:

To renew your certificate, you must do the following:

- ◇ If it is required this year, complete the required CDPH-approved Continuing Education (CE). Continuing Education is not required if your most recent CE is less than two years old, and was submitted with your most recent previous renewal application.
- ◇ Complete and sign the attached renewal form (CDPH 8553). If you are renewing more than one certificate, you can renew them all with one application.
- ◇ Include the pink Course Completion Form (CDPH 8493) you get from your Continuing Education training provider. (If Continuing Education is not required this year, check the appropriate box near the bottom of CDPH Form 8553, page 2.)
- ◇ Include the proper fees for each certificate you want to renew. You may use a single check or money order to pay for several fees. CDPH cannot accept cash. Make check or money order payable to "California Department of Public Health". All fees are non-refundable.
- ◇ Include a recent photograph of yourself. It should be a 2" x 2" or larger passport style photograph, with your full name and your identification number such as Lead ID or course completion form on the back. You can also send a digital photograph (with your name as the file name) e-mailed to LeadPhotos@cdph.ca.gov. Do not send a printout of a digital photo.
- ◇ Keep a copy of your completed application for your own records.

Mail all your renewal materials together to:

Childhood Lead Poisoning Prevention
Branch
850 Marina Bay Parkway
Building P, Third Floor, Box C
Richmond, CA 94804-6403

Do not address your renewal to a specific person at CDPH. This will slow down its delivery time.

You may also hand-deliver your application, Monday through Friday, between 9:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. at the above address. Applicants wishing to hand deliver certification applications must call us a day in advance because of security restrictions. Please note that a “government issued identity card” must be presented for entrance to our facility. All hand delivered renewals must be in a sealed envelope with the above address on the outside.

If you are submitting applications for several people, make sure each applicant signs their renewal form, and paper-clip each applicant’s materials together.

Expired Certificates:

If you do not renew on time, and your certificate expires, you cannot perform work requiring CDPH certification. There is no grace period. To keep your certificate current, you must renew it before it expires. If your certificate expires before you renew it, your new expiration will be calculated from a new expiration date, not the old expiration date.

Renewing an Expired Certificate:

If it has been less than 3 years since your certificate expired, and you satisfied the every two year Continuing Education Requirement on page 1, you may renew by sending CDPH a renewal application with the course completion form and the correct fee(s). (To renew a Worker certificate, take Continuing Education for Workers. To renew an Inspector/ Assessor, Project Monitor or Sampling Technician certificate, take General Continuing Education. To renew a Supervisor certificate, take either Worker or General Continuing Education.)

If you did not satisfy the once every two year Continuing Education Requirement on page 1, or if it has been more than 3 years since your certificate expired, you must take the full initial lead-related construction course again and send CDPH a renewal application with the course completion form and the correct fee(s).

When you renew an expired certificate, you will receive a new expiration date. Your certificate ID number will stay the same.

Remember, you may not do work requiring CDPH certification if your certificate has expired.

Renewing Several Certificates:

If you have several certificates that all expire on the same day, you may renew them all at the same time, using one application. You still have to pay a renewal fee for each certificate.

If you have several certificates with different expiration dates you should plan to take Continuing Education about 160 days before your earliest (first) certificate expires.

You may renew each certificate separately. If you choose this option, CDPH will renew each certificate, separately, as you apply. Be sure to keep copies of your Continuing Education Course Completion Form and include a copy with each separate renewal application.

Renewing Early:

CDPH encourages you to apply for renewal 120 days before your certificate expires. This will ensure that your certificate is renewed before it expires. You will not lose time on your certificate by applying early for renewal. Each time you renew your certificate, CDPH adds one full year to the certificate’s expiration. If you wait until your certificate expires, you will not gain any additional time.
